Company Timeline

1881
Our founders, Moses and Endel Phillips, begin mending and selling shirts for coal miners in the Pottsville, PA area.

1890
The M. Phillips & Son family business relocates to New York City.

1907
The Phillips’ business merges with D. Jones & Son, a prominent shirt and collar maker, and takes the name Phillips-Jones Corporation.

1919
Partnering with inventor John M. Van Heusen, Phillips-Jones Corporation begins production of the patented, soft-folding Van Heusen collar, later dubbed “The World’s Smartest Collar”.

1920
Phillips-Jones Corporation common stock is listed for trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

1943
Phillips-Jones Corporation’s manufactures shirts for U.S. and Allied troops during WWII and is honored with the prestigious Army-Navy “E” award for excellence in wartime production.

1957
Phillips-Jones Corporation changes its name to Phillips-Van Heusen Corporation in honor of its best-known shirt brand.

Late 1970s
Phillips-Van Heusen enters designer-brand licensing with brands including Geoffrey Beene. New retail stores in factory outlet centers ultimately become a significant portion of the Phillips-Van Heusen business.

1992
Phillips-Van Heusen formalizes historical commitment to corporate responsibility into its code of conduct, “A Shared Commitment”.

1995
Phillips-Van Heusen purchases the iZOD brand.

2000
Phillips-Van Heusen acquires the rights to the Van Heusen trademark in Europe and Asia, giving it ownership of the brand worldwide.

2003
Phillips-Van Heusen completes the acquisition of Calvin Klein, Inc., adding a globally recognized iconic designer name to its brand portfolio and transforming the business.

2004
Phillips-Van Heusen acquires Cluett, Peabody & Co., Inc., owner of the ARROW brand, the Van Heusen brand’s biggest competitor throughout its history.

2008
Phillips-Van Heusen publishes its first Corporate Social Responsibility report, demonstrating its commitment to transparency across the company, industry, and global community.

2010
Phillips-Van Heusen acquires Tommy Hilfiger, establishing the company’s first large-scale direct operation in Europe.

2011
Phillips-Van Heusen Corporation changes its name to PVH Corp. to reflect the growth and change of the company over the previous decade.

2013
PVH Corp. enters the S&P 500 with the acquisition of The Warnaco Group, Inc., the worldwide licensee of Calvin Klein Jeans and owner of Calvin Klein Underwear, reuniting “The House of Calvin Klein” and opening direct operations in Asia and Latin America. The purchase also included Warner’s and Olga.

2014
The PVH Archives is established, a physical and digital resource created to preserve and protect all archival materials pertaining to PVH Corp. and its portfolio of iconic brands.

2015
A modern-day heir to the original product that started it all, PVH Corp. launches the innovative Van Heusen Flex Collar dress shirt, which allows expanding collar comfort.

2017
PVH Corp. acquires True & Co., a Silicon Valley direct-to-consumer intimate apparel e-commerce retailer.

2018
PVH Corp. expands its Heritage Brands portfolio by acquiring the long-time licensed Geoffrey Beene brand.

2019

Partners

PVH is proud to partner with leading organizations committed to helping drive FASHION FORWARD – FOR GOOD in sustainability, philanthropy, and inclusion & diversity.

As one of the most admired fashion and lifestyle companies in the world, we recognize the opportunity and our responsibility to take a stand for what is right.

Here’s what they have to say:

SAVE THE CHILDREN
“PVH has been a committed partner to Save the Children for more than a decade,” said Carolyn Miles, President and CEO of Save the Children. “We are so grateful for their support of children from preschoolers to young adults.”

COUNCIL OF FASHION DESIGNERS OF AMERICA (CFDA)
“PVH is one of the first fashion companies to be certified as a Great Place to Work – a testament to the way PVH treats its associates. In my efforts to understand how fashion companies work to be inclusive and diverse, I reached out to a number of companies and in conversation with PVH, I was so impressed with what they were doing,” said Steven Kolb, President and CEO of the CFDA.

FASHION FOR GOOD
Katrin Ley, Managing Director of Fashion for Good, on the partnership with PVH: “PVH Corp. has a strong legacy in corporate responsibility, which it is advancing through innovative approaches to social and environmental issues. This makes it an ideal partner for Fashion for Good. Together, we will focus on innovations that offer better alternatives and enable transparency and traceability across the value chain, from source to store, with the ultimate aim to make fashion a force for good.”

WWF
formerly World Wildlife Foundation
“As major trends like urbanization, population growth and climate change exacerbate existing water issues, water is not only an urgent environmental issue but also a risk to business,” said Sheila Bonini, Senior Vice President of WWF. “Water stewardship partnerships like the one with PVH are a commitment to the management of shared water resources in the public interest.”

GOOGLE
“We are working with PVH to become a digital lighthouse in the fashion space through data-driven and consolidated marketing,” said Michael Burke, Industry Director Branded Apparel & Durables of Google.

PLUG AND PLAY
“PVH brings a fresh new perspective to our Supply Chain & Logistics and Brand & Retail programs. We are thrilled to see how their portfolio of iconic brands will tap into our suite of startups and their technologies,” said Michael Olmstead, Chief Revenue Officer of Plug and Play.

FORDHAM UNIVERSITY GABELLI SCHOOL OF BUSINESS
“The partnership will prove that two organizations with very similar values, but in very different industries, can meaningfully connect to support social and environmental good at a time when we need it most,” said Donna Rapaccioli, Ph.D., dean of the Gabelli School of Business.

HOWARD UNIVERSITY
“We are excited to welcome PVH as a new partner for many reasons, including our shared values. The company’s legacy and impact are unparalleled, and the ongoing commitment to individuality, integrity, accountability and diversity make PVH an ideal partner, not just for the Honors Program within the School of Business, but for students across our campus,” said Dr. Kanika Jones, Assistant Dean of Student Affairs of the SBEL program.

THE MEMORIAL FOUNDATION
“For well over 15 years, PVH has been more than a partner to both The Memorial Foundation and prior to that, The Martin Luther King, Jr. National Memorial Foundation. While building the MLK Memorial, PVH stood by us in hand to hand to ensure that the memorial in honor of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Memorial to stand out as a beacon of ‘Democracy, Justice, Hope and Love not just for our Country, but indeed for the entire world’,” said Harry Johnson, President and CEO of The Memorial Foundation.

SAFE HORIZON
“PVH and Safe Horizon have had a wonderful and vital partnership for 20 years,” said Ariel Zwang, CEO of Safe Horizon. “We are so grateful for their support — through both contributions and volunteer efforts — on multiple areas of our work. This includes our domestic violence programs and their most recent generous multi-year commitment to help us continue providing a safe space, warm meals, counseling and most of all, hope to young people through our Streetwork Project for homeless youth.”

THE FRESH AIR FUND
“Thanks to the incredible generosity of Tommy Hilfiger and PVH, over the past 20 years, 10,000 young men, ages 12 to 15, have grown from boys to young men at The Fresh Air Fund’s Camp Tommy. Built on a foundation of brotherhood, leadership training and mentorship, Camp Tommy provides a safe environment where boys grow into responsible adults. Our campers create life-long friendships, learn from their counselors who serve...”
as mentors and role models, all while having fun in the outdoors. We are truly grateful for the extraordinary partnership provided by Tommy Hilfiger and PVH for helping unlock the limitless potential of the young men of New York City,” said Fatima Shama, Executive Director of The Fresh Air Fund.

WORLD VISION
“Because of your generosity, children are clothed, children are warm and children can attend school to be educated. We are making a difference! Together, we are able to reach those in need find a second chance, and hope even in the most difficult situations,” Jack Laverty, Corporate Engagement Director of World Vision.

ONEPULSE
“PVH’s dedication to Inclusion and Diversity and putting people first was a natural fit for us,” said Barbara Poma, onePULSE Foundation CEO. “The PVH family lost one of their own at Pulse, and their support of onePULSE and to honor their associate and each of the 49 lives taken is incredibly touching and powerful.”

RONALD MCDONALD HOUSE NEW YORK
“For nearly two decades, PVH has been a valued corporate partner with Ronald McDonald House New York,” said Ruth Browne, President & CEO of Ronald McDonald House New York. “From sponsoring meals to Days of Service, PVH employees go above and beyond to support our children and families. Not only do PVH volunteers donate their time, but they also help organize special events for our children and give back to the House financially, supporting our mission of keeping families close. Time and again, PVH has proven to be an outstanding supporter of the House and has helped further our goal of allowing kids to be kids first and kids with cancer second.”

JUVENILE DIABETES RESEARCH FOUNDATION (JDRF)
“PVH and Tommy Hilfiger have been committed partners of JDRF since 2011, raising more than $9 million toward our mission to accelerate life-changing breakthroughs to cure, prevent and treat type 1 diabetes and its complications,” said Derek Rapp, JDRF President and CEO. “We are grateful for PVH’s and Tommy Hilfiger’s support as we strive to create a world where type 1 is type none.”

Brand Overviews

Calvin Klein

The CALVIN KLEIN brands — CALVIN KLEIN JEANS, CK CALVIN KLEIN, CALVIN KLEIN UNDERWEAR and CALVIN KLEIN PERFORMANCE — provide us with the opportunity to market products both domestically and internationally at various price points, through multiple distribution channels and to different consumer groups. The CALVIN KLEIN brands are also licensed for a range of products, including fragrance, women’s apparel, footwear, eyewear, watches and jewelry in various regions. Global retail sales of products sold under the CALVIN KLEIN brands were approximately $9.4 billion in 2019.

The tiered-brand strategy was established for CALVIN KLEIN to provide a focused, consistent approach to global brand growth and development that preserves the brand’s prestige and image. Each of the CALVIN KLEIN brands occupies a distinct marketing identity and position.

IZOD

IZOD is known for its youthful, energetic, sports-inspired styling. Collections include men’s classic, athletically inspired sportswear, golfwear, jeanswear and performancewear and luxury-style sport collections. IZOD was the #1 best selling national brand men’s woven sport shirt in U.S. department and chain stores in 2019. Products are primarily distributed in the U.S. and Canada through department stores (in stores and online), as well as IZOD.com. We also have 25 licensing agreements for IZOD, seven of which are international. The licensees operate approximately 35 free standing stores around the world.

Van Heusen

With a strong foundation in men’s dress furnishings, we believe that Van Heusen is one of the best selling national brands of dress shirts in the U.S. It also offers men’s and women’s dresswear, sportswear and accessories. Van Heusen was the #2 best selling national brand men’s woven sport shirt in U.S. department and chain stores in 2019. Products are primarily distributed in the U.S. and Canada through department stores (in stores and online), as well as IZOD.com. The brand also has international appeal, with 24 licensees covering approximately 75 territories worldwide in product categories including men’s, women’s and children’s formalwear, sportswear and accessories.

Arrow

ARROW is known for its classic American styling. The brand’s heritage is in dress shirts and the category offerings have been expanded to include sportswear and neckwear. The brand is primarily sold in the U.S. and Canada through department stores (in stores and online). Outside North America, ARROW is licensed in approximately 80 territories and appears on a broad assortment of men’s, women’s and children’s apparel and apparel-related products. There are over 350 free-standing ARROW stores globally.
Geoffrey Beene

Geoffrey Beene is a respected designer brand within the lifestyle category of menswear dress furnishings and sportswear. Beene has evolved to attract a younger, more digital-focused consumer, while paying respect to the heritage of the brand. Products are primarily distributed in North America through department stores and their ecommerce platforms. The brand also has licensing deals with other manufacturers, ranging from accessories to luggage, and it conducts business in several countries.

Olga

Olga is a leading intimate apparel brand in North America, focused on fuller-figured women. Products, including bras and panties, are designed to be comfortable and engineered for a superior fit. Olga products are currently sold in the U.S. and Canada primarily through department stores (in stores and online), as well as select pure play digital commerce retailers.

Warner's

A leading intimate apparel brand, Warner's targets the modern everyday woman, who is confident and practical. Warner's offers bras, panties and shapewear, and was the fourth best-selling brand for bras and panties in U.S. Department and Chain stores in 2019. The brand is primarily sold in the U.S. and Canada through department and mass market stores (in stores and online), as well as select pure play digital commerce retailers.

True & Co.

Founded in 2012, based in San Francisco and designed in New York City, True & Co. is a direct-to-consumer intimate apparel digital commerce retailer, transforming the way women shop online by matching recommendations far beyond typical measurements. Products are primarily distributed on TrueandCo.com, with the brand currently sold exclusively in the U.S. The 2017 acquisition of True & Co. enabled PVH to further participate in the fast growing online channel and provided a platform to increase innovation, data driven-decisions and speed in the way it serves its consumers across its channels.
Stefan Larsson is CEO and a member of the Board of Directors of PVH Corp. He assumed both roles in 2021 after joining the company in 2019 as President.

As PVH President, Stefan had responsibility for all PVH’s regions and branded businesses, including Calvin Klein and TOMMY HILFIGER. He has helped develop near-term actions and long-term strategies that will continue to leverage the power of PVH by remaining focused on the company’s core strengths, connecting them to where the consumer is going, and driving brand relevance and high performance to deliver long-term sustainable growth.

Prior to joining PVH, Stefan was the Chief Executive Officer of Ralph Lauren Corp., where he successfully refocused the company on what made it iconic, improved its performance and set the path for future growth. Previously, Stefan served as the Global President of Old Navy, a division of Gap Inc., where he helped Old Navy deliver 12 consecutive quarters of profitable growth and positioned the brand among the top preferred brands among millennials in America. Preceding that, for nearly 15 years, Stefan held multiple key leadership roles on the team responsible for growing H&M with revenues increasing from about $3 billion to about $17 billion and operations expanding from 12 to 44 countries. He started his career at H&M with nearly seven years in different global roles with responsibility for product including assortment planning, merchandising and production.

Stefan earned a Master of Science in Business Administration jointly from the Hanken School of Economics and Business Administration in Finland, and Jonkoping International Business School in Sweden.

Manny Chirico
Chairman

Manny Chirico is Chairman of PVH Corp., owner of an iconic family of brands including Calvin Klein, TOMMY HILFIGER, Van Heusen, ARROW, Warner's and IZOD. Manny has been with PVH for over 26 years, serving as CEO from 2006 to January 2021 and Chairman since 2007. Under his leadership, PVH has become one of the largest and most admired fashion and lifestyle companies in the world, reaching $9.9 billion in annual revenues in 2019 and 40,000 associates operating in over 40 countries.

Throughout his career, Manny has embodied the PVH core values of accountability, partnership, passion, integrity and individuality which he has helped establish at the company. In 2019, Manny formally introduced PVH’s purpose statement: “We power brands that drive fashion forward – for good.”

Manny helped transform PVH from a North American dress furnishings business to one of the largest apparel companies in the world. He played a key role in acquiring Calvin Klein in 2003 and engineered the transformative acquisitions of Tommy Hilfiger in 2010 and Warnaco in 2013.

He has been recognized for his leadership and business accomplishments. Manny was named to NRF Foundations’ List of People Shaping Retail’s Future in 2020 and inducted into the Business of Fashion 500 Hall of Fame in 2019. In 2018, he received Women’s Wear Daily’s CEO Creative Leadership Award, was named Person of the Year by the American Apparel & Footwear Association (AAFA) and received the Committee for Economic Development’s (CED) Leadership Award. He was also identified as a Top 100 Connected Leader by Brunswick Group and a top CEO by Glassdoor.

Manny’s personal philanthropic work includes serving on the Board of Trustees of his alma mater, Fordham University. In 2020, he spearheaded a 5-year partnership between PVH and Fordham University’s Gabelli School of Business to establish a leading academic hub for the study of Corporate Responsibility and Sustainability. He is also is on the board of Montefiore Medical Center. During the COVID-19 crisis, PVH secured and delivered Personal Protection Equipment (PPE) to Montefiore Health System for the medical staff on the front lines fighting the pandemic. Manny serves on the board of Save the Children, PVH’s global philanthropic partner, where he has been instrumental in supporting efforts to promote early childhood education in developing countries. In recognition of his efforts, he was named a Save the Children “Changemaker for Children” in 2020. He also supports the Ronald McDonald House in New York City, and was the marquee speaker and award recipient at its annual gala in 2015.

Manny is on the Board of the United Nations Global Compact, is a member of the Committee for Economic Development, sits on the President’s Advisory Committee for U.S. Trade Policy and Negotiations, and is also on the Board of Directors of Dick’s Sporting Goods and Conagra Brands.

Born and raised in the Bronx, Manny graduated from Fordham’s Gabelli School of Business in 1979. Manny was named Father of the Year by The National Father’s Day Council in 2018, honoring his deep dedication to his family, including his wife, three sons and grandchildren. He is known to be an avid sports fan and golfer. He often quotes the late legendary football coach Vince Lombardi: “It doesn’t matter how many times you’re knocked down but how many times you get back up.”
